

What can an MBA do for me?

How can an MBA propel my career? How do I make the most out of my investment? Is an MBA right for me?

These questions will be addressed by Bruce Anderson, Managing Director, Lee Hecht Harrison Australia at a Monash MBA Special Breakfast Event on Wednesday October 28 from 7.00 – 8.30 am.

Bruce will use his experience as an MBA leadership and career coach expert to discuss the value of an MBA education in the current economy. He has a history of success in complex operational, marketing and sales, and stakeholder management roles with “blue chip” organisations including AXA, Bendigo Bank and Transurban. Bruce is very active in the broader community as the Chairman of the Dafydd Lewis Scholarship Trust, Board Member of Kildonan UnitingCare, and is an active member of a number of local community organisations.

Lee Hecht Harrison (LHH) is one of the largest firms in the HR industry specializing in managing organisational change, career transition or leadership and career coaching. LHH is respected by the world’s leading companies and chosen to partner with them as they consider important decisions about their capability and the careers of their employees. LHH has assisted many of Australia’s leading companies in successfully managing organisational change, including: Wesfarmers, Visy, The Coles Group, Nestle, Santos, Unilever, Westpac and Multiplex.

Date: Wednesday October 28

Time: 7.00am start. Close 8.30am

Venue: Clayfield room, Building A, Caulfield Campus, Monash University

Register: mba@buseco.monash.edu.au